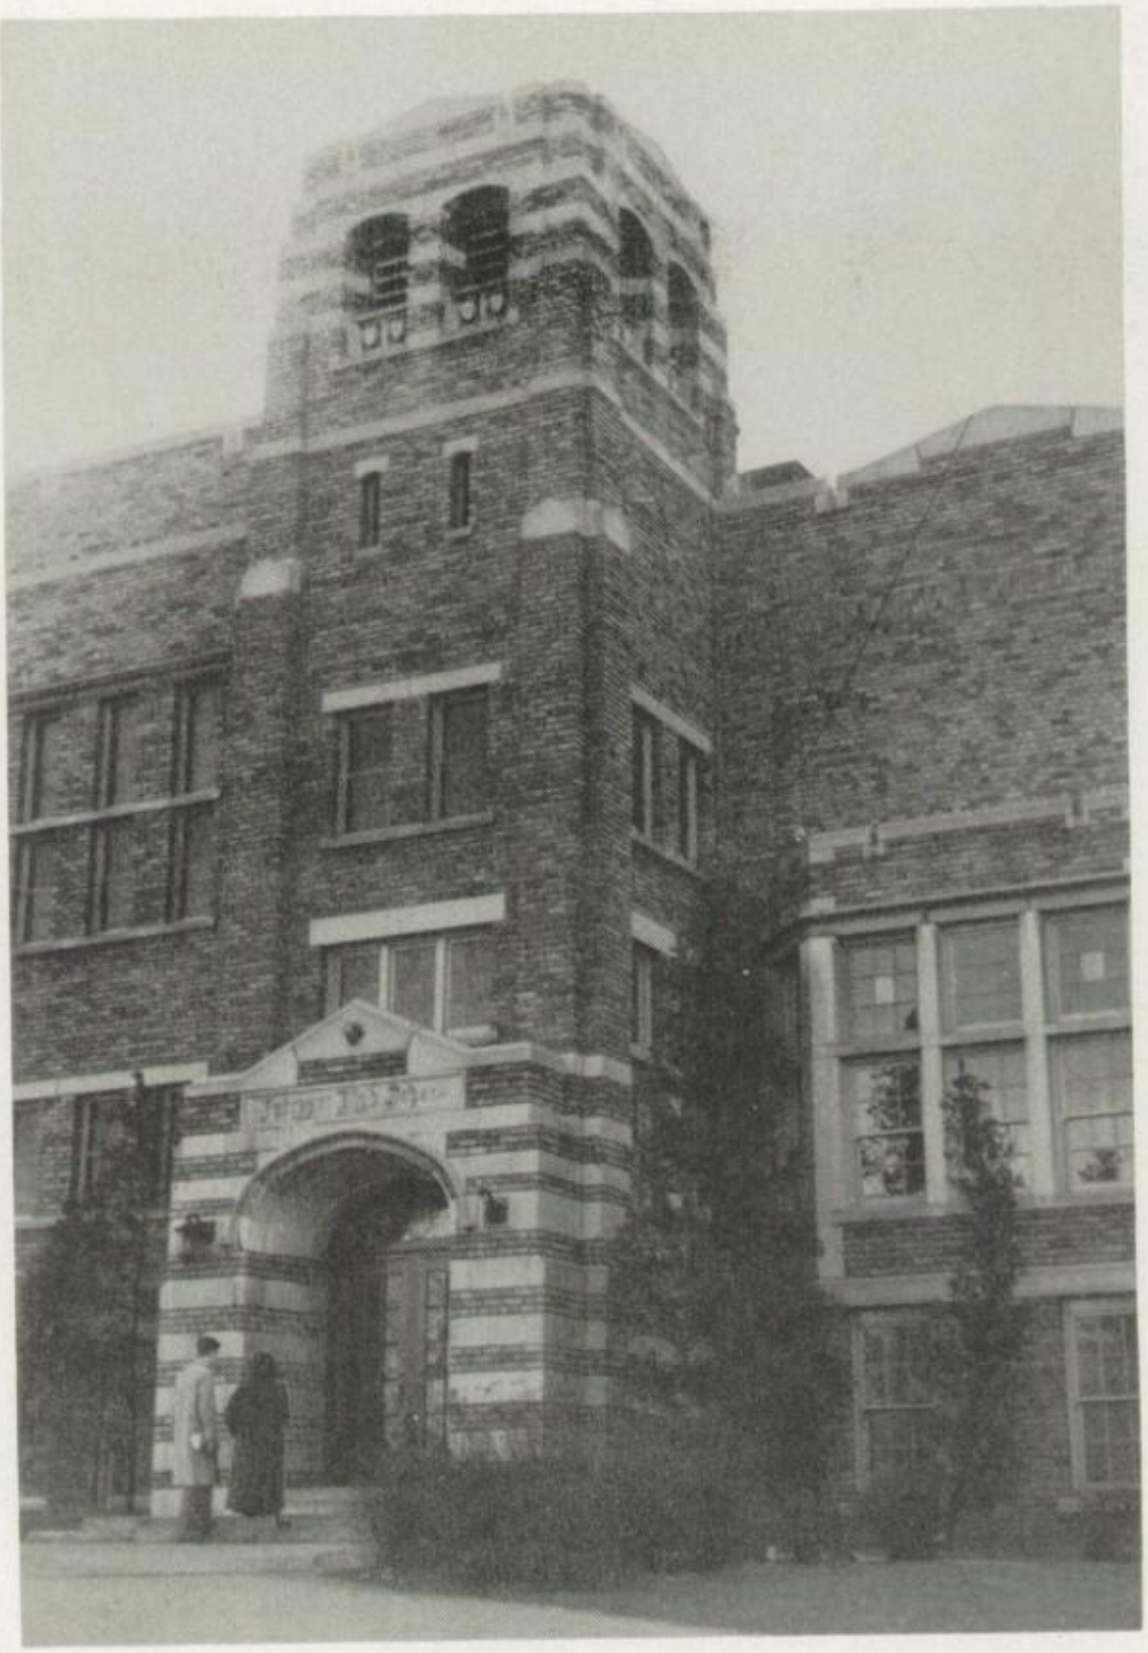
FAIRPORT HIGH SCHOOL



ALMA MATER

Oh, Alma Mater, o'er us shed scholastic light,
E'en as we wander from thy halls tonight.
Memory fondly lingers calling back departed days,
Every task grows lighter as we sing thy praise.
Dear Alma Mater, our affections cling to thee,
Faithful and loyal shall we ever be;
And though years divide us and in distant
lands we roam,
Oft in dreams we'll gather 'neath thy much loved dome.

DEDICATION

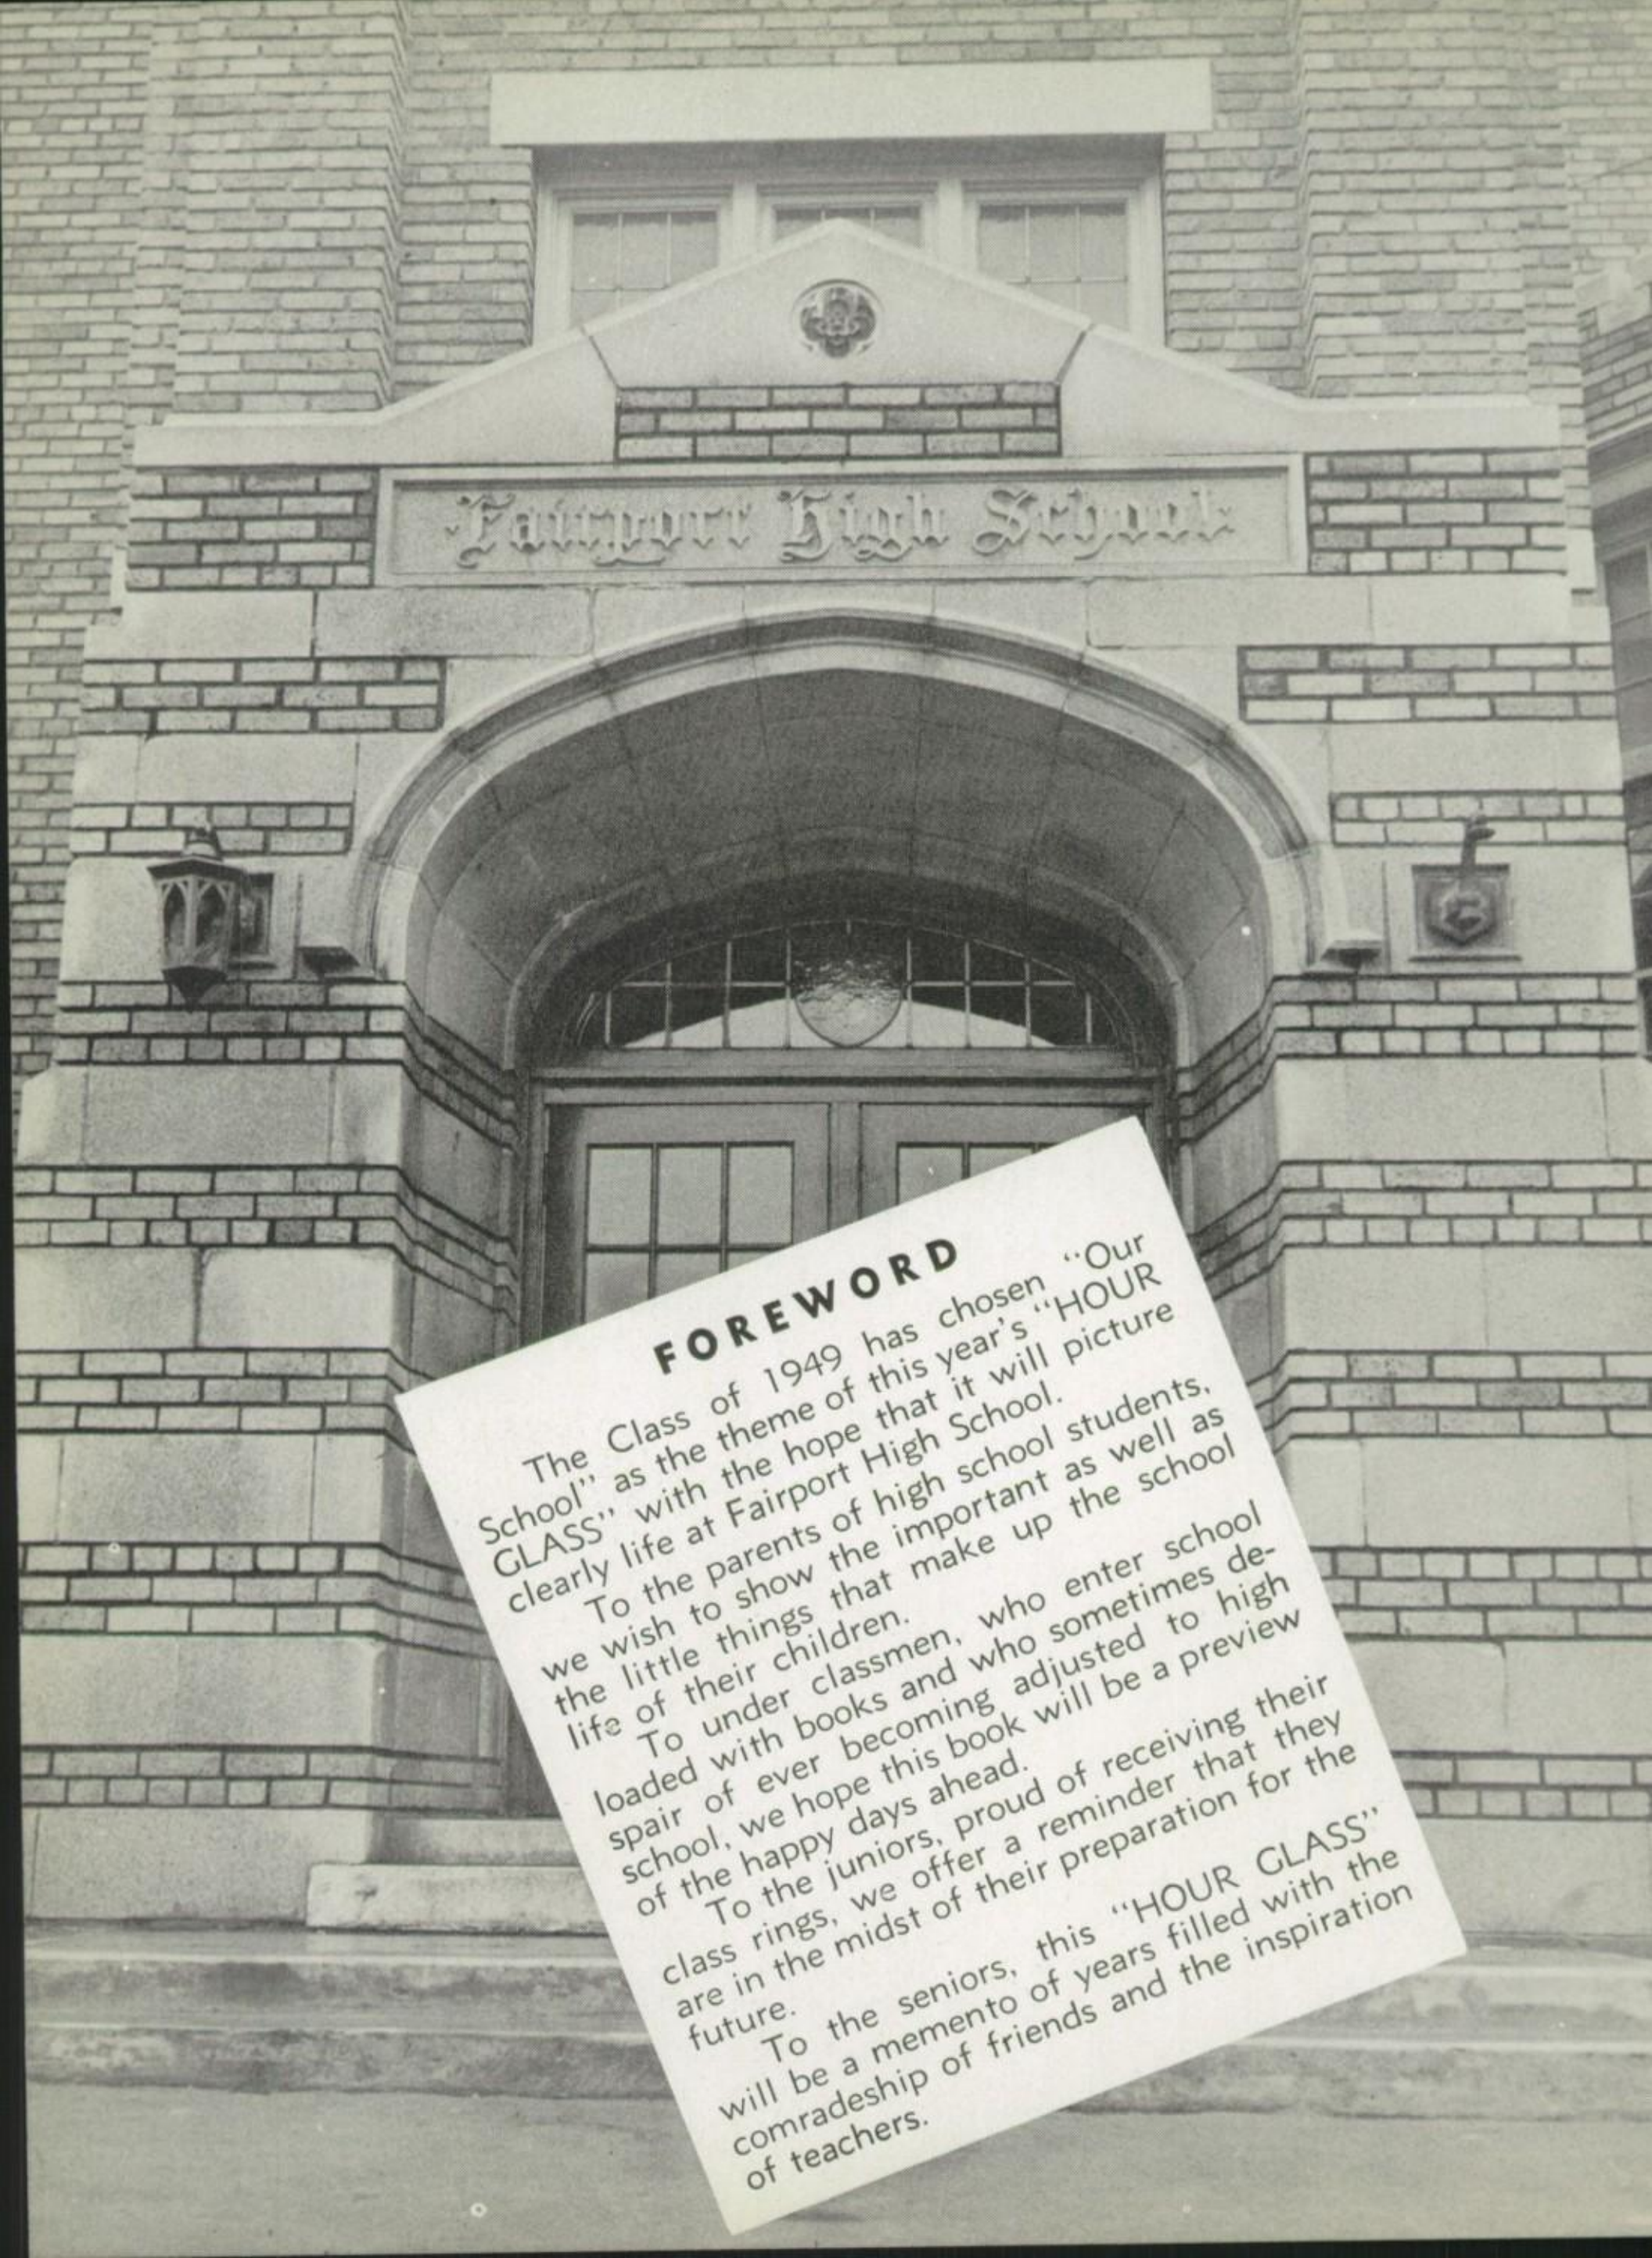
HELEN J. HODGE

We first met Miss Helen Hodge when as freshmen we brought her our excuses for being absent from school. Later we were impressed by the calm, skillful way she taught mathematics.

Miss Hodge comes into contact daily with more students than most other teachers. Besides her classes and her work as attendance supervisor, she has charge of scholastic records and is the adviser for the cheerleaders.

At all times she is patient and good humored. Her fine personality has made her a real friend of the student body as well as the faculty.

As we look back on our high school years, Miss Helen Hodge will stand out as an ideal teacher and friend. To her, we, the class of 1949, dedicate this HOUR GLASS.



FOREWORD

The Class of 1949 has chosen "Our School" as the theme of this year's "HOUR GLASS" with the hope that it will picture clearly life at Fairport High School.

To the parents of high school students, we wish to show the important as well as the little things that make up the school life of their children.

To under classmen, who enter school loaded with books and who sometimes despair of ever becoming adjusted to high school, we hope this book will be a preview of the happy days ahead.

To the juniors, proud of receiving their class rings, we offer a reminder that they are in the midst of their preparation for the future.

To the seniors, this "HOUR GLASS" will be a memento of years filled with the comradeship of friends and the inspiration of teachers.

ADMINISTRATION

Students of any school expect their administration and faculty to carry out its business and to see to the needs of their school with a degree of excellence and smoothness. Their duty is to further educational advantages and to stimulate young people's desire for knowledge through better school facilities.

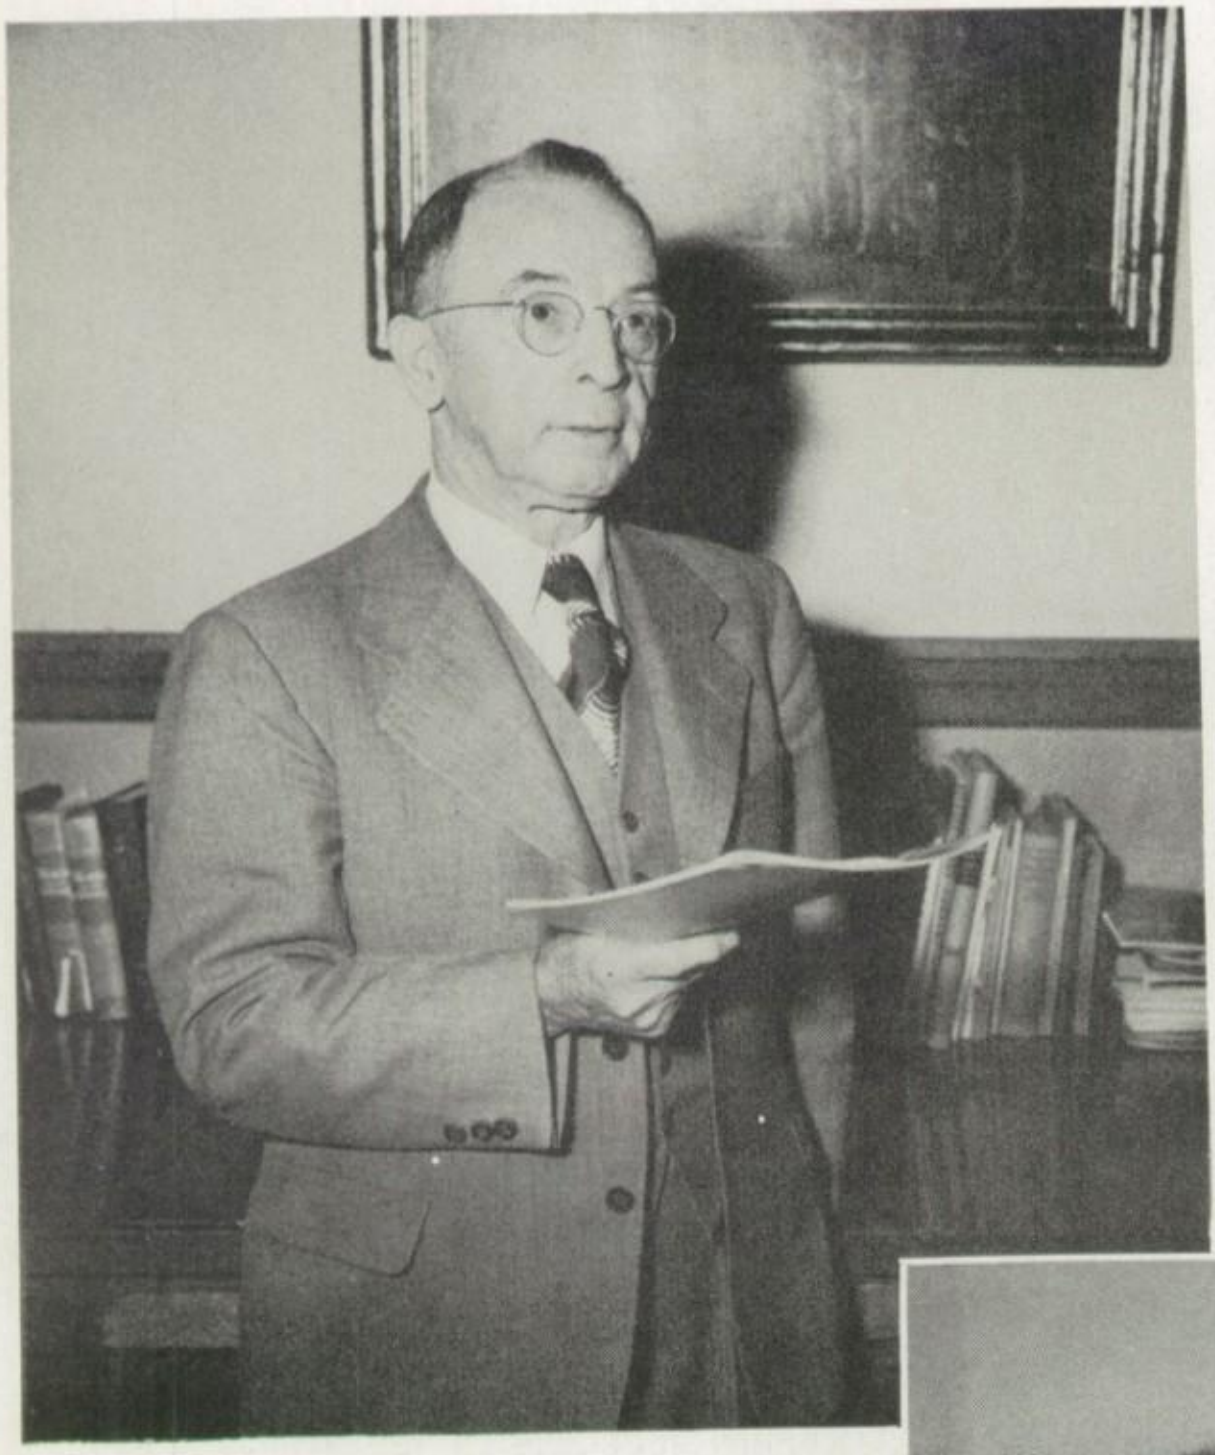
The curriculum is made interesting and educational by the diligent work of the faculty who are combined into one well organized group of teachers. The members of the faculty have their problems but they respond with a smile and go on with their work in the bests of spirits.

The Senior Class sees the faculty as a group of real friends and fine helpful people. The administration has fulfilled its duty toward Fairport High School by its own work and by the high standards it maintains for its teachers.

The seniors will always have the highest regard for the faculty and administration.

M. H. Humphrey

ADMINISTRATION



THOMAS G. COFFEE
SUPERINTENDENT

Every student realizes that he can obtain expert advice and guidance from Mr. Coffee, school superintendent of Fairport. He is well known also for his pleasant personality and inexhaustible supply of appropriate anecdotes.

Mr. Coffee has held the position of superintendent of Fairport's schools for the past twenty-four years. This work of keeping Fairport's educational system running smoothly is one which requires all the ability and hard work which he devotes to it.

Gardening is the hobby which occupies Mr. Coffee's leisure time. His friendly manner has made him a friend of the community.

MRS. MARGUERITE FOOTE
SECRETARY

A smile from Mrs. Foote, the school secretary, greets those entering the main office.

She is a capable newcomer and everyone who comes in contact with her is impressed by her pleasant efficiency. Her cooperative spirit has been helpful to the treasurers of the various school organizations in managing their finances.

Mrs. Foote is very fond of roses and often has some on her desk. At home, she likes to take care of her little son.

ADMINISTRATION

NELSON R. BURTON
PRINCIPAL

The principal of Fairport High School, Nelson R. Burton, always has a ready smile for the students and is noted for his leadership and understanding.

Although he is new to FHS as a principal, he is well acquainted with the ways of Fairport High School, since he taught English and science here for several years before he left in 1944.

Besides his work as principal, Mr. Burton teaches English II and physics and is the adviser for the junior class and the twirlers.

Seated: Thomas G. Coffee, Mrs. Helen Martin, Dr. Charles J. Whitney.
Standing: James Cornish, John Bruischaart, Claude Emery, Domenic Streppa, David Reamer, Herman Guetersloh. Absent: Reginald Kiefer.

BOARD OF EDUCATION

The students of Fairport High School have a real respect for that group of local citizens who comprise the Board of Education.

These people, who willingly give of their time, have earned in return not only the gratitude of the student body but also the support of the community.

Quietly and efficiently the board works behind the scenes for the welfare of Fairport's young people. The work of the board entails the maintenance of the buildings, the selection of a capable teaching staff, and the administration of the village schools.

SENIORS

Graduation: The long awaited time for every senior. The odor of red roses, the bustle of activity, and then—a hush as the seniors, garbed in caps and gowns, proceed down the aisle toward their diplomas and the future.

The important day is preceded by hours of hard work and study, supplemented by activities and relaxation. This day was more easily attained by some than by others, but all worked to make the class remembered in the annals of Fairport High. Never will they forget their years of ioy and work at Fairport High whether those be many or few.

With the sands of time running through the hour glass, the seniors set out on the road of life each seeking his own place in the changing world.

They set out better equipped with knowledge and an understanding of life and their fellow men given to them and developed in them through these years at Fairport High.

ADVISERS AND OFFICERS

LEON WARNER
AND ELSIE MONK

SENIOR ADVISERS

The seniors chose Miss Elsie Monk and Mr. Leon Warner to advise them in making their social and financial plans. These two teachers proved to be indispensable in carrying out the programs of the year. Their patient efforts and sense of humor were valuable assets to the class.

SENIOR OFFICERS

The people who led the class through the year were President Richard Peck, Vice-president Dominic Menaguale, Secretary Dorothy Phillips and Treasurer Peggy Carpenter.

These seniors had an enormous task and each did his share to accomplish it. Their duties were to keep an account of the number of points each senior earned, to collect dues, and to direct class activities.

SENIOR HISTORY

In September fifty-five seniors met to outline their plans for the year. To make money for their senior trip they began selling magazine subscriptions. Total sales reached fifteen hundred dollars. This topped previous subscription campaigns and earned them five hundred dollars toward their trip.

For Stunt Night the seniors presented their own original skit, "I'll Take You Home Again, Kathleen", winning second place.

On November 18, 19, and 20, the class sponsored a benefit show at the Temple Theater, increasing their treasury with a percentage of the ticket sales. However, their chief source of income was the selling of Christmas cards and wrapping paper.

This year's senior play, "Miss Jimmy" was presented on December 16. The Senior Ball came next on December 22. In January the seniors held a sock dance, which was a novelty at Fairport High.

The climax of the year was the long-awaited trip to New York during the Easter vacation.

STUDENT PATROL AND FLAGBEARERS

SENIOR STUDENT PATROL

Every year nineteen juniors are chosen to keep order in the hall. As seniors, they automatically become the senior student patrol. The members are appointed by the patrol's advisers, Miss Fortmiller and Mr. Warner. Every other week they are relieved by the junior patrol.

Between classes, the patrollers are on their posts maintaining order. This year, with the addition of another grade in the junior high, the patrol had a new task, that of teaching the younger students to keep order.

The captain, Doc Menaguale, and assistant captain, Edward Schubert, headed the patrol.

FLAG CUSTODIANS

Every year two seniors, a boy and a girl, are selected for the position of flag custodians. Those chosen for the honor this year were Daun Kelsey and Dominic Menaguale. They were selected on the basis of their scholastic achievements, good citizenship and participation in extracurricular activities. Their duty was to see that the flag was flying every morning and taken down at night.

QUEEN, Mary Helen Humphrey

SENIOR BALL

From the dimly lighted gym, the soft notes of Bill Sherman's music floated out on the frosty air of December 22. Sprays of scented pines lining the floor, a beautifully decorated Christmas tree, and decorative white, medium blue, and French blue crepe paper transformed the gym into the theme "The Enchanted Christmas".

A few minutes before intermission, the couples gathered to form an aisle for the six candidates for king and queen to pass through to their thrones. Mr. Burton placed the glittering silver crowns on the heads of Mary Helen Humphrey and Gerald Williams. The other candidates were Velma McCleave, Eleanor Witt, Edward Schubert, and Robert Beaton.

As the time slipped quickly by, couples began to leave after their happy preview of the yuletide season.

This successful event was directed by a committee of seniors. Josephine Pace was general chairman, while Dorothy Phillips was chairman of the decoration committee.

SENIOR PLAY

With three weeks of practice and a talented group, the senior class presented the annual senior play. Under Mrs. Lorensen's skillful direction and Miss Fortmiller's prompting, they succeeded in presenting one of Fairport's most enjoyable and successful plays.

"Miss Jimmy," a humorous farce in three acts, starred Jerry Williams as Miss Jimmy and Rosemary Murphy as Louise. It was about a college youth who, during the course of being initiated into a fraternity, entered the dormitory of an exclusive girls' school in search of a dress.

So exclusive was this school that the girls seldom had an opportunity to meet any men other than their brothers and cousins.

Jimmy was caught and forced to dress in the clothes he stole to avoid being caught, but it was too late. To make certain that there would be enough men at their coming spring prom, the girls decided to hold Jimmy for ransom until his friends came to the prom.

It was only with the aid of Droopy, the colored janitor, who was himself trying to keep his chicken farm from the reach of the police that "Miss Jimmy" was able to escape—after promising to come back for the prom.

HOUR GLASS

EDITORS

M. H. Humphrey, D. Menaguale, G. Beaton, J. Pace.

Fairport High School's yearbook, the HOUR GLASS, is the major project of the senior class. It involves much time and hard work spent in planning, writing, and assembling it, but the result is a feeling of satisfaction that comes from accomplishment.

There are three staffs, editorial, art, and business, which are under the supervision of Miss Mary Dedie, Mrs. Esda Street, and Mr. E. K. Schworm respectively.

The editors are appointed by the faculty at the beginning of the year. Josephine Pace was editor-in-chief, assisted by George Beaton, Mary Helen Humphrey headed the art staff and Dominic Menaguale was business manager.

These people, assisted by capable staffs, worked diligently to bring to the reader a true picture of what goes on at Fairport High School.

CLASSES

Before one attains the position of senior he must first travel through three years of high school.

One usually associates the word freshman with a bewildered and confused person carrying a huge burden of books. He is confused because he is just becoming acquainted with the working of high school. English and social studies occupy much of his time.

As he progresses and becomes a sophomore perhaps he learns the intricacies of laboratory equipment or becomes involved in the figures of business subjects.

In his junior year his interest broadens. Along with his schoolwork he devotes much time to extra-curricular activities in the fields of literature, dramatics, art or sports.

These three years preparatory to becoming a senior are not only years of hard work and study but of fun in learning to work and play together. It is this that makes the senior year so rich in friendship, in achievement, and in memories.

JUNIOR CLASS

Standing: Mr. Burton, Bob Lewis, Miss Keegan.
Seated: Anne Hubbard, Lawrence Holmes, Shirley Konz.

The juniors chose as officers Lawrence Holmes, president; Shirley Konz, vice-president; Anne Hubbard, secretary; and Bob Lewis, treasurer. Advisers were Miss Keegan and Mr. Burton.

Nineteen juniors were selected as the student patrol with Andrew Lynch as captain.

For Stunt Night, the juniors presented an entertaining minstrel show with Miss Hodge and Mr. Banks as advisers.

The arrival of the junior rings was one of the high lights of the year. Another was the annual Christmas play, this year a Nativity pageant directed by Miss Dedie and Mrs. Lorensen, with the music of the Mixed Chorus and Boys' Glee Club under the direction of Miss Keegan.

As usual, the CHATTER staff of informed juniors reported the school news.

SOPHOMORE CLASS

ADVISERS AND OFFICERS

Standing: Mr. Banks, Mrs. Lorensen, Bob Bruening. Seated: Joyce Diedrich, June Oliver, Eleanor Sheperd.

Early in the year, this class elected June Oliver as president; Bob Bruening, vice-president; Joyce Diedrich, secretary and Eleanor Sheperd, treasurer. The class also selected Mrs. Lorensen and Mr. Banks to be their advisers.

At Stunt Night the sophomores, with Miss Baist and Mrs. Lorensen as advisers, won first place with their skit entitled "School Daze". It was a clever presentation with Sally Grabb portraying a "schoolmarm".

In February, the enterprising sophs presented their adaptation of Humperdinck's HANSEL AND GRETEL. This fine performance starring Esther Dancy, Mary Jane Guetersloh, and Louis Rowell, was expertly directed by Mrs. Lorensen.

At the sophomore Valentine dance, Shirley Myers and Donald Kramer were chosen as King and Queen of Hearts.

FRESHMAN CLASS

ADVISERS AND OFFICERS

Standing: Miss Dedie, Mr. Schworm.
Seated: Jack Bills, Sam Carini, Bob Consaul.

The girls and boys who entered high school this year as freshmen were perplexed and bewildered at first. Nevertheless, they organized early. They chose Sam Carini to guide them as president throughout the year. Bob Consaul was chosen vice-president; Pat Sharpe and Tom Spence were elected to take charge of finances, while Jack Bills kept the minutes of the meetings. They chose as their advisers, Miss Dedie and Mr. Schworm.

Real talent was displayed by the class on Stunt Night. Their skit, entitled "Harvest Hayride" was their interpretation of a hayride and included many popular songs. Miss Monk and Miss Keegan directed it.

The class was represented on the student council by Pat Sharpe and Jerry Yost.

JUNIOR HIGH

JUNIOR HIGH FACULTY

Standing: Miss Brown, Mrs. Gazley. Seated: Mrs. Chapman, Mrs. Oldenburg, Miss Mayer.

The boys and girls of the seventh and eighth grades, which make up Fairport's junior high, prepare for their future, especially, for the coming years of high school. They continue to develop their personalities and to form good traits of citizenship and sportsmanship. Learning to think for themselves and to build character is part of their training.

These are important years for the students. To guide them along the way are: Miss Martha Brown, the principal, Mrs. Mabel Gazley and Miss Hazel Mayer, all three eighth grade teachers; also Mrs. May Chapman and Mrs. Mabel Oldenburg, who teach the seventh grades.

ACTIVITIES

School activities constitute an important part of the life of Fairport's youth. There are many organizations and various activities with a wide appeal. In these the students find an enjoyable supplement to classroom work.

Those who make good leaders can do much to promote better school spirit through the student association and class and club organizations.

There are many opportunities for those who have musical or dramatic ability to improve themselves and to give others pleasure through their talent.

For those who are athletically inclined there are many different activities in which boys and girls learn sportsmanship and teamwork.

These are the facets which reflect school life at F.H.S.

SCHOOL DAYS

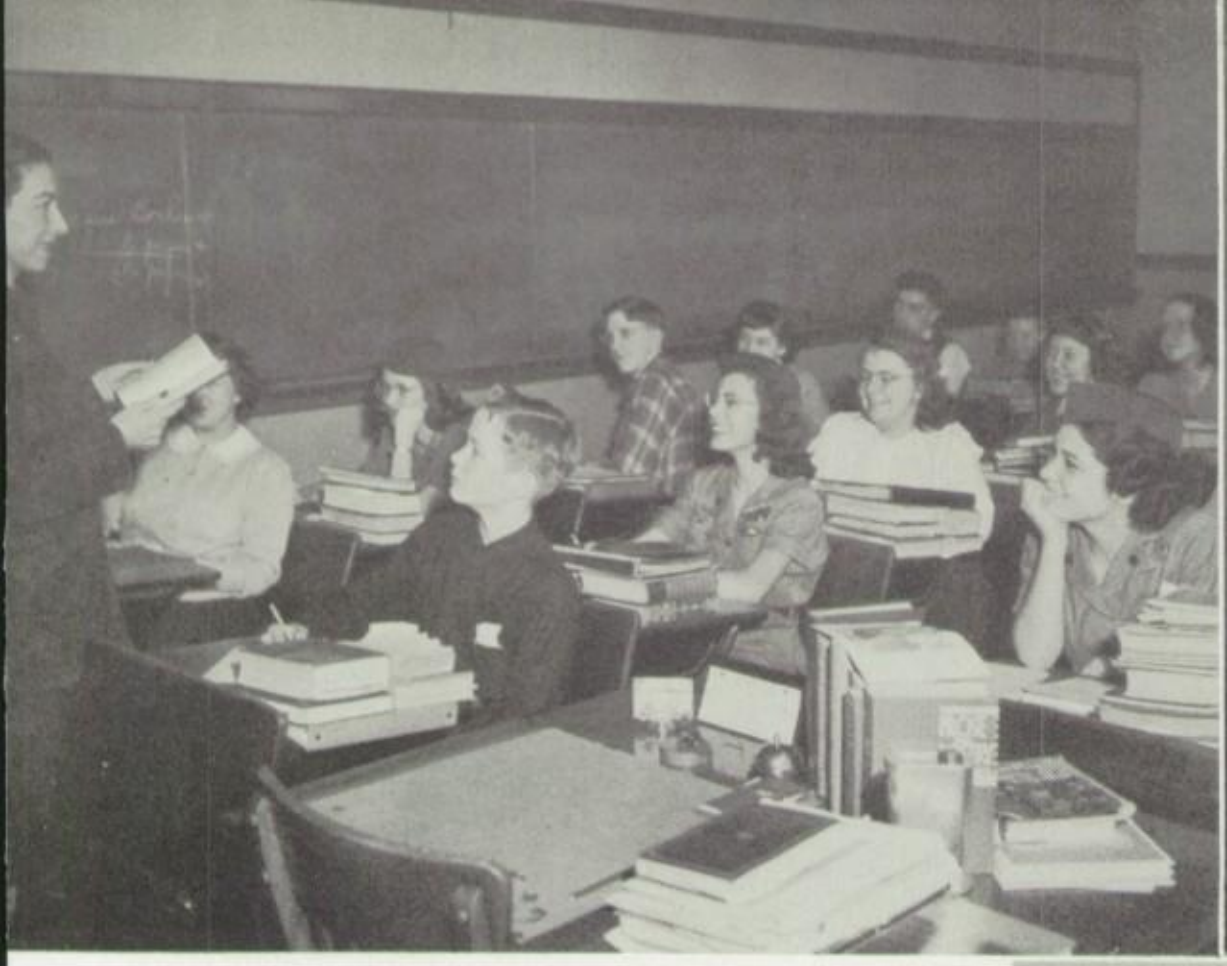
As the bell for first period rings, the students make their way to early morning classes. Their safety in the corridors is due to the efficiency of the student patrol.

Some of them proceed to the art room for instruction under Mrs. Street. The art room is always a cheerful place to work. Many students take art courses and help decorate rooms, bulletin boards, and showcases.

Everyone takes gym two periods a week under the direction of Miss Donk or Mr. Cummings. The students learn the essentials of the various sports and the qualities of good sportsmanship.

Many of the boys take shop from Mr. Yonkers. The shop room is well equipped with fine tools and machines. Here the boys learn about wood and metal work and make many useful articles.

A great deal of time is spent in the library looking up references and doing weekly readings in history and science,.



SCHOOL DAYS

Many an hour is spent on the regular academic subjects. They are the foundation of the school curriculum and everyone takes at least two of these subjects.

A novelty for this year was the beginning of a homemaking class for boys. Several enthusiastic boys realized how important homemaking is for boys as well as girls.

Laboratory periods are important in any science course. There a student applies what he has learned in class. The chance for experimenting also affords a diversion from the formal classes. Two periods of lab work a week are required for students taking chemistry and physics and one period for those taking biology. Mrs. Odell supervises the laboratory.

Finally comes the end of a full day. But this is not really the end for the majority of the students. After school there are many taking part in various activities or catching up on school work.

FAIRPORT FEATURES

One of this year's additions was due to an enterprising group which started a dance band called the Serenaders. They played at the Sophomore Valentine dance and were an instant success.

The senior class was unusual in the respect that there were four sets of brothers and sisters. Bob and George Beaton, Delores and Carlton De Wolff, Lois and Carl Hess, and Dick and Fred Peck.

An outstanding activity of the sophomore class was the presentation of "Hansel and Gretel" in February. This operetta was filled with humor as well as good music and talent. The cast was well directed by Mrs. Lorenson. They also learned about stage directions and theater make-up.

This year a guidance program was instituted. The purpose of this program is to help the students select their high school subjects and to familiarize them with education beyond high school needed for their future work.

Mr. Warner is counselor and many students have received valuable information from him.

FAIRPORT FEATURES

The girls of Fairport, like those of other schools, were infected with the desire for long skirts, narrow waists, ballerina shoes, and the other general qualities of the "new look".

The student council is the principal student governing body in the school. Its officers are seniors who are assisted by two representatives from each class. Mr. Burton and Mr. Coffee are advisers. The council administers to problems involving the entire school.

David Bulman was absent from school when the pictures were being taken. He was outstanding in many class activities. Dave's interests lie mainly in science, particularly astronomy. He was the recipient of this year's Bausch and Lomb science medal.

Every year, several graduates return to FHS to take courses which they had no time for while in school and which they require for future plans.

Football and basketball are the major sports here at Fairport High. The cheerleaders certainly do their part to boost school spirit for the teams.

VARIETIES OF 1949

The CHATTER staff, accidentally locked in room 18, try to escape.

It is hard to concentrate on studies on the first warm spring day.

This crowded stairway is a typical after-examination get-together.

Keeping attractive displays on the bulletin boards is one of the projects of the art department.

VARIETIES OF 1949

Initiation week is one of the funniest events of the year, especially for those who watch the antics of the poor pledges.

Before the most important football games of the year, the cheerleaders conduct a snake dance to bolster school spirit.

School assemblies provide an interesting diversion from regular classroom activities. Each homeroom is assigned to a certain section of the auditorium. When they are all seated, the senior student patrol takes its place at the front of the auditorium, and the program commences.

ALPHA BETA PHI

The Alpha Beta Phi's red, white, and blue jackets are well known around Fairport High. This fraternity is not just another social organization; it also helps to make better citizens of its members and stimulates good sportsmanship throughout the school.

This club, with Mr. Milton Yonkers as adviser, elects its officers twice a year. Under the leadership of Presidents Dominic Menaguale and Louis Cascini, the Phi had a very successful year. Their main money-making program was the selling of ice cream, soft drinks and team ribbons during the basketball season. The club sponsored the One Act Play Contest in the spring. They also awarded the scholarship and sportsmanship cups on Class Day.

The other officers of the club were: Louis Cascini and Byron Ellsworth, vice-presidents; Jerry Williams and Bob Lazerson, secretaries; Julius Battaglini and Bob Beaton, treasurers; and Nick Basile and Fred Parkison, sergeants-at-arms.

BLOCK F CLUB

BLOCK F CLUB

The members of the Block F Club are all sportsmen, each holding at least one varsity letter. Therefore, it is indeed an honor to be in this fraternity, which is advised by Mr. Joseph Cummings and Mr. Bruce Banks.

The club increased its treasury this year by selling team ribbons, hots, soft drinks and ice cream at football games. Another source of money was the Block F vs. Faculty basketball game, which provided many laughs for all. However, most of this money was soon spent on new sweaters and for the one hundred dollar scholarship given to the senior member of the club who would most benefit by it.

Certainly, the club has had a prosperous year with Gary Rockwell as president; Edward Schubert, vice-president; Andy Lynch, secretary; Fran Myers, treasurer; and Wendy Barnes, sergeant-at-arms.

THETA CHI UPSILON

Many a student enjoyed eating the candy bars sold during lunch hour by the girls of the Theta Chi. Each girl gave up part of her lunch period once a week to sell the candy to raise money for the club.

Rosemary Murphy maintained order throughout the year as president, while vice-president Winifred Cobb stood by. Minutes were kept by the secretary Velma McCleave and Peggy Carpenter was treasurer. Miss Helen Hodge was the Theta Chi's adviser at the beginning of the year until Miss Florence Stolt returned.

Informal initiation was held at the president's home and formal ceremonies were at the Potter Memorial. The annual St. Patrick's Day dance was held on March 18.

The year ended with a houseparty at a lakeside cottage.

COSMOPOLITAN CLUB

COSMOPOLITAN CLUB

A white sweater with a double C on the emblem symbolizes the sportsmanship and fellowship of its wearer.

Cos meetings were held every other Tuesday and were brought to order by the president, Daun Kelsey, or the vice-president, Eleanor Witt. Minutes were taken by Lois Hess and Shirley Konz was treasurer. Miss Margaret Fortmiller was their adviser.

The highlight of the year for the Cos was its annual Talent Show. Other students took part in it and a prize was awarded to the best performer. Several times, the Cos sold homemade candy during lunch hour.

The Cos, as well as the other clubs, participated in the One-Act Play Contest.

In the spring the Cos served the faculty at their annual faculty tea.

SIGMA CHI DELTA

The Greek letters on the purple sweaters and caps indicate that the wearer belongs to the Sigma Chi Delta sorority.

The girls have had a successful year led by their president, Mary Helen Humphrey. Adele Adamson took notes and Susanne Smith was treasurer. They were advised by Miss Betty Keegan.

After pledging the new members, the sorority held formal initiation at the home of President Mary Helen Humphrey and then started to make plans for the year. Two baked food sales were held, as well as a square dance in the school gym. They also sold FHS souvenirs. The sorority planned a houseparty to climax a successful year.

DRAMATIC CLUB

DRACOFAHS

Under the supervision of Mr. Bruce Banks, the newly reorganized Dramatic Club under the name of Dracofahs, became an instant success. There was a very large turn out from all four classes.

The name "Dracofahs" was derived from the first letters of "Dramatic Club of Fairport High School."

The officers were: president, Bob Beaton; vice-president, Bob Lazerson; recording secretary, Suzanne Smith; corresponding secretary, Beverly Bushart; treasurer, Julius Battaglini; and publicity manager, Mary Helen Humphrey.

In April, thirty-five members of Dracofahs went to the Drama Festival held at Cortland State Teachers College. They learned much about the production of plays.

FRENCH CLUB

"Faites attention, mes amis!" was the expression used by Larry Holmes as he called the French Club to order.

The Club was organized late this year, but its members were very active and accomplished much before the year was over. The purpose of the French Club is to learn more about France and the French language, customs, and culture in an informal way. Pictures about France were posted on the bulletin board in the French room and committees made interesting reports on them. The meetings of the club were further enlivened by the colorful descriptions by its adviser, Miss Florence Stolt, of her recent trip to France and Italy.

Besides President Holmes, the other officers were Betty McGuire, vice-president; June Oliver, secretary, and Josephine Pace, treasurer.

This year the members purchased small pins with their emblem, the fleur-de-lis, on them.

LIBRARY STAFF

When Miss Fortmiller needs help in the library, her faithful staff is always there.

There are twenty-eight students on the staff, some of whom have special duties such as filing old copies of CHATTER and keeping the card catalog in order. Other members stamp and shelve books, prepare new ones, and keep the library neat. At the end of the year, the staff assists Miss Fortmiller in taking inventory.

Each person on the staff works one period a week in the library, so that there is always someone in charge of the desk while Miss Fortmiller is busy with history or science readings.

In September, when the library opens, the staff entertains the faculty at its annual library tea.

ART CLUB

This year the Art Club was the largest that Mrs. Street has directed. At the first meeting, Wendell Barnes was elected as president. He was assisted in his duties by Robert Lucas, vice-president; William Zimmer, secretary; and Geraldine Bernard, treasurer.

The club was formed for the purpose of enjoying art and the effect it has on everyday life. The purpose is best expressed by the following quotation: "The purpose of art is to make me feel good about living."

The meetings were spent in various ways. During one, the members modeled clay. Seceral times, the group visited the Memorial Art Gallery in Rochester, viewing the works of painters and sculptors. Senior members of the Art Club had the opportunity to see the objets d'art in the Metropolitan Museum of Art on their trip to New York City.

In school, the club arranged bulletin boards in the art room, in the hall across from the main office and in the cafteria. Som eof its members attended the Scholastic Art Exhibition to show others how high school students and other artists work.

CHATTER

Last year at Class Day, Dorothy Caward and Joanne Peters were named editor-in-chief and associate editor respectively of CHATTER. These two girls had the difficult task of assigning and then correcting the articles written by their staff.

The CHATTER staff was advised by Miss Mary Dedie. The editor and associate editor were assisted by reporters who reported the news of Fairport High and its students. They were Norma Rumpf and Shirley Konz, sports editors; Marilyn Pitcher, club editor; Nick Basile and Austin Kohl, Chatter Box; Suzanne Smith and Muriel DeNise, assembly editors; Lynne Colborn, Anne Hubbard, Nancy Celehar, Justine Dunn, feature writers; Carol Adams, typing editor; and Sally Pybus and Joan Pritchard were typists.

In October, Dorothy Keefe, Suzanne Smith, Carol Adams, and Joanne Peters went to the Empire State Scholastic Press Association Conference at Syracuse University. They brought back many tips that helped the staff throughout the year.

CHATTER, which is the major project of the junior class, helps the students to express themselves and gives them some knowledge of newspaper work.

BAND

The school band was smaller this year but performed well as usual.

On December 3, Lewis Rowell took part in the All-State Scholastic Band in Rochester. The entire band went to East Rochester on June 3 and played at the band festival there.

J. Dunn, leader. First Row: P. Dorn, D. Nemitz, P. Caler. Second Row: B. Masclee, J. Johnson, A. Albrecht. Insert: Mr. C. Vance.

TWIRLERS

In school, the band played before assemblies during the year and at the annual Spring Concert.

The seven twirlers were advised by Mr. Burton. Justine Dunn was the leader. They performed in parades, between halves during basketball games, and between stunts at Stunt Night.

First Row: S. Pybus. P. Carpenter, M. Scida, G. Arielly, M. Ferris, D. De Wolff, M. Kriel, J. Scida, S. Keyes, L. Hess, Mr. Vance. Second Row: B. Mc Guire, B. Bushart, F. Vincent, V. Hembrock, E. BOYS' GLEE CLUB AND MIXED CHORUS

The Boys' Glee Club and the Mixed Chorus are both driected by Miss Betty Keegan. Each club had its own officers: Homer Prudom, president of the Boys' Glee Club; Lawrence Holmes, vice-president; James Erbland, secretary-treasurer; and Gary Reed, librarian. Carolyn Lieb was accompanist for both clubs.

Both the Mixed Chorus and the Boys' Glee Club went to Hilton in April to the county Vocal Festival. The Mixed Chorus made several appearances, both in school and for village functions. These boys and girls sang at the Baptist Home and at several P. T. A. meetings. They also provided the musical background for the Christmas play.

The officers of the Mixed Chorus were George Beaton, president; Lawrence Holmes, vice-president; Kaye Rourke, Lynne Colborn, Beverly Bushart, and Mary Helen Humphrey were librarians.

Sitting: A. Albrecht, S. VanThof, J. Wilson, G. Verstraete.

Second Row: W. Cobb, N. Holt, J. Johnson, J. Pritchard, C. A
Third Row: L. Holmes, J. Erbland, H. Prudom, W. Klinke, G. B
S. Farro.

GIRLS' GLEE CLUB

Twice a week, the girls of the Glee Club raised their voices in song. These girls, directed by Mr. Carroll Vance, receive one-quarter of a school credit per year. The Glee Club is also important in that it gives its members an opportunity to learn the fundamentals of singing and harmony.

Some of their outstanding selections of the year were "Tea for Two", "Green Cathedral" and "I Got Shoes". At the annual Vocal Festival held this year at Hilton, they sang the "Bridal Chorus". Carolyn Lieb and Margaret MacLean represented the Glee Club at the sectional All-State Glee Club last fall at Canandaigua.

The year came to a close with the annual Spring Concert in June, in which they sang a cantata as well as several favorite songs.

FOOTBALL

Fielding a young and inexperienced team, Fairport launched its 1948 football campaign with an ominous note, playing Avon to a tie and defeating LeRoy.

With high hopes the Fairport Joes met a veteran Irondequoit squad and gave them a good fight before bowing.

After defeats to Webster and Brighton, the Red and Blue, preparing for the East Rochester game, showed its offense for the first time by overpowering Albion 19-7.

A week later came the game of the year, against East Rochester. Showing amazing offensive strength Fairport outplayed the enemy, but slowly the defense cracked and East Rochester squeezed in a victory.

Post season highlight was Fran Bucher's being chosen for the All-County team and Co-Captain Menaguale making the second team.

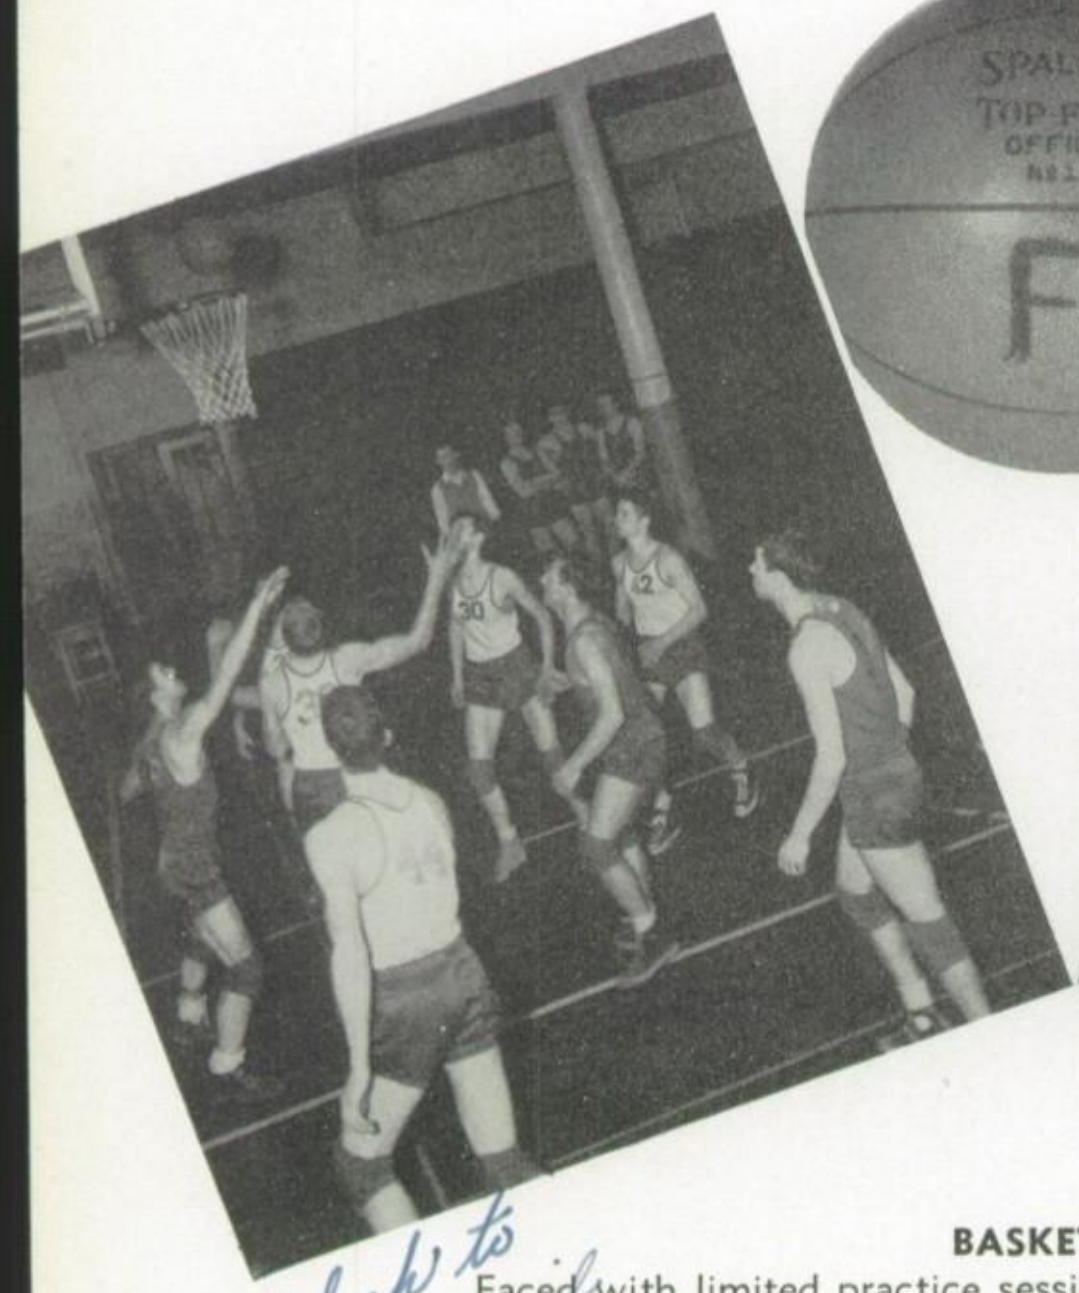
BASKETBALL



BASKETBALL

Faced with limited practice sessions while a new gym floor was being finished, an unconditioned team, led by co-captains Bucher and Myers, lost a one point decision to Irondequoit. But hopes were not down and the team slowly reached its peak, sporting a four game winning streak. Then Brighton jolted all hopes as they won by 4 points. Following a long way off, the Red and Blue faced their rivals, East Rochester. It was a thrilling see-saw contest until the opposition's superior condition turned the game into a walk-away in the last quarter.

At the start of the second half, Fairport's spirit began to decline after a hard-fought loss to Webster. The final blow came when the team lost a one point verdict to Brighton when it scored a basket in the last seconds.

At the end of the season Co-Captain Fran Myers was awarded a spot on the All-County team.

However, with a good number of veteran players returning and promising second team men showing up, hopes for next year are quite high.

TRACK AND SOFTBALL

TRACK

Each spring a large number of candidates turns out for the track team with their eyes on winning the championship. With a good number of veterans returning, Fairport was out to better last year's record of a third place win in the county meet.

Cascini and Vogel make a fine showing in a practice race with Brooks and Rockwell close behind.

SOFTBALL

Softball is an increasingly popular sport at FHS. Large turnouts are always on hand when the first call for practice comes. Last year ten games were played with various schools in the county, and this year Coach Cummings enlarged this schedule.

First Row: R. Hadley, C. Vogel, R. Lazerson, W. Zimmer, J. Carini, J. Maccarone, K. Verstraete, T. Dunham, M. Gabrielli. Second Row: H. Earl, C. Pierce, R. Malone, R. Consaul, E. Gabrielli, A. CHEERLEADERS

VARSITY CHEERING SQUAD

The senior cheerleaders introduced several new cheers this season. Among them were "The E. R. Song", "Baskets", "The X Cheer", a new "Locomotive" and "Rah! Rah! Red". Many explosive "pep meetings" were held with the help of Miss Hodge, the cheerleaders' adviser.

Upper Right: G. Williams, M. Scida, G. Barnes. J. Dunn, J. Mead, N. Celehar.

JAY-VEES

The junior cheerleaders did a fine job urging the junior varsity on to many victories during the season. The J. V. cheerleaders also made up several new, peppy cheers. They include a new "Locomotive", "Step on the Starter", "They May Be Rough", and "California Grapefruit".

Right: Kneeling: J. Rourke, S. Konz, K. Rourke. Standing: L. Root, J. Johnson, N. Holt.
Lower Right: Junior cheerleaders in action.

MISS HELEN HODGE

GIRLS' ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

G. A. A.

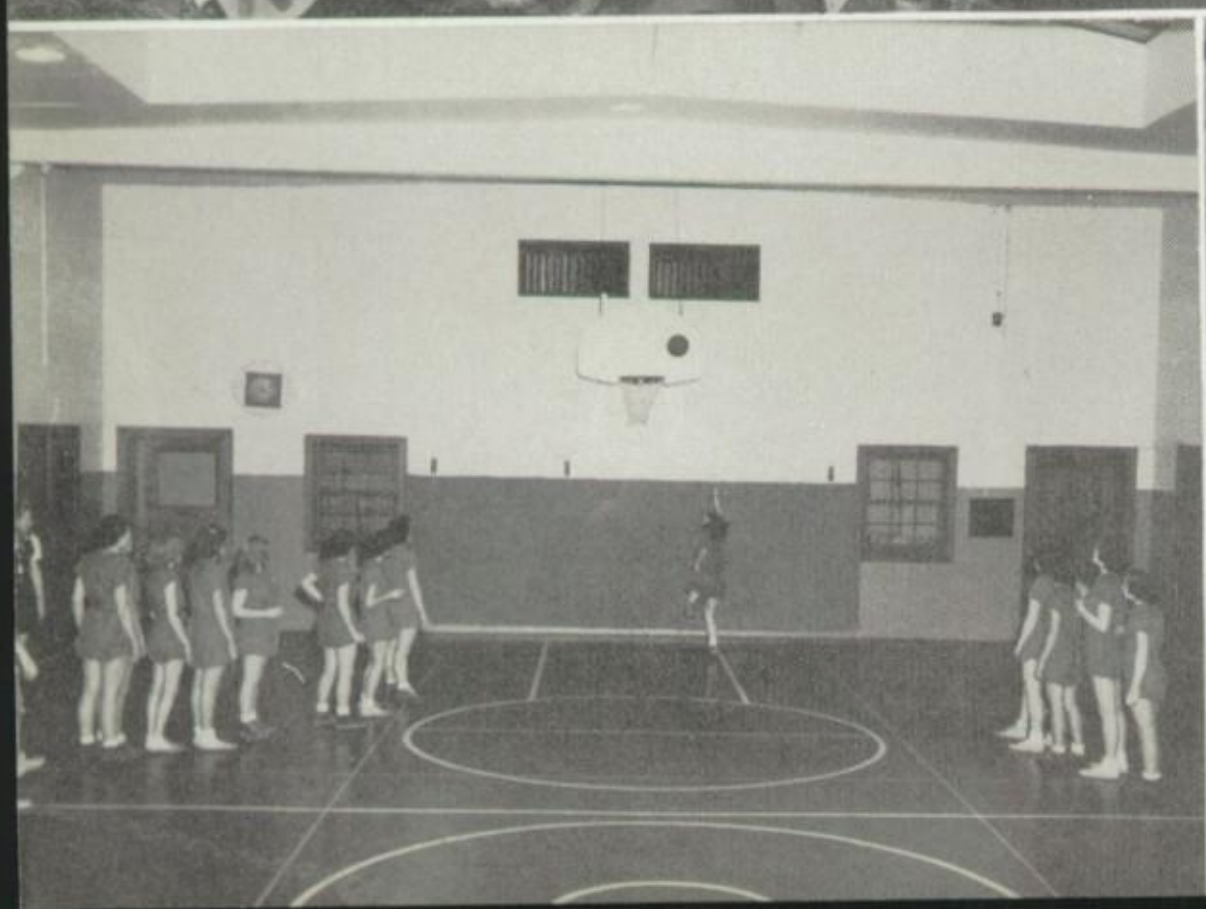
The Girls' Athletic Association has had another exciting year. At their first meeting officers were chosen. They were: Eleanor Witt, president; Mary Helen Humphrey, general manager; Esther Dancy, vice-president; Justine Dunn, treasurer; Ida Mae Parkison, secretary. The classes were represented by Dorothy Phillips, senior; Joanne Peters, junior; Eleanor Sheperd, sophomore; Thelma Savard, freshman.

The managers of the many sports, which the girls take part in after school, were also chosen.

In addition to trips to other towns for playdays, the G. A. A. had a picnic and a party. This year the girls have enjoyed games at Webster, East Rochester, and Pittsford.

Through the guidance and the enthusiasm of Miss Ruth Donk, the girls have enjoyed another year of active sports.

Upper Left: E. Witt, E. Dancy. Miss Donk, I. M. Parkison, J. Dunn, M. H. Humphrey.
Left: First Row: E. Dancy, C. Adams, J. Dunn, D. Kelsey. Second Row: J. Peters, T. Savard, D. Phillips, E. Sheperd, W. Cobb.
Lower Left: Practicing for an after school game.
Lower Right: I. M. Parkison, J. Johnson, G. Bernard.



GIRLS' HONOR TEAMS

HOCKEY HONOR TEAM

Field hockey is the first sport of the school year. Girls who participate in after school sports are seen carrying hockey sticks, balls, and shinguards as they rush out to the freshly-marked field. The best players were voted by the G. A. A. members to make up the Hockey Honor Team.

SOCCER HONOR TEAM

Soccer is the sport which follows hockey. The members of the G. A. A. enjoy this exciting and energetic sport. At the end of the season the girls voted for those showing good sportsmanship and teamwork as well as skill.

BASKETBALL HONOR TEAM

Girls' basketball was the first indoor sport this year. Under Miss Donk's direction, the girls learned zone guarding which they found to be very helpful after some practice.

VOLLEYBALL

The HOUR GLASS went to press before the Volleyball Honor Team was chosen.

CAFETERIA

CAFETERIA

The cafeteria, now in its third year, continues to serve delicious, nourishing lunches to students of the Fairport schools.

It is run on a clock-like schedule with the younger pupils eating at 11:00, the older grade school pupils at 11:40 and the high school at 12:25. Everything runs smoothly on this schedule fixed by the cafeteria management.

Mrs. East plans the meals and is in charge of the cafeteria while Mrs. Dunham is cashier and bookkeeper. Mrs. Morrell, Mrs. Manzek, Mrs. May, and Mrs. Hess compose the rest of the staff and have the job of preparing the food. They are assisted by several of the high school students who work every noon, and sometimes by the homemaking classes.

Upper Left: Mrs. East, T. Dunham, K. Verstraete, F. Bucher, G. Barnes.
Left: Mrs. Morrell, Mrs. Manzek, Mrs. May, Mrs. Hess.
Lower Right: The lunch table: a place to discuss the events of the day.

JANITORS

The maintenance of Fairport High School is carried out by a friendly and efficient staff.

These janitors carry out their regular job of keeping the school clean, safe and properly heated. They have an air of friendliness and helpfulness at all times and are always on hand for extra duties such as dances, games and other after school activities, with that same attitude.

These smiling and helpful people are Mrs. Daisy Cobb, who looks after the girls' locker rooms with her helper "Chips", Mr. Bert Ashloff, Mr. Horace Hendricks, familiarly known as "Shorty" and Mr. Charles Gears. The male members of the staff have the large job of keeping the school swept and clean, of doing minor, but important repairs, and tending the huge furnace.

Upper Right: Mr. Gears.
Right: Mr. Hendricks.
Lower Right: Mrs. Cobb.
Lower Left: Mr. Ashloff.

We Want To Be a Good Citizen
Wherever We Serve

A good citizen is one who shares responsibilities with his neighbors. He pays his share of taxes. He helps boost projects designed to improve his particular community and to make it a better place in which to live. The R. G. & E. tries to be just such a good citizen and that's why its men and women workers are active in the promotion of every good cause. This is our home town, too, and we want to help it grow and prosper. We want to be a good citizen wherever we serve.
